Seriously, don't laugh at me.

I was born in 1997 and now I am an adult.

When I see others, they are always better than me, maybe even learning, sports, handsome faces and even luck.

Of course, as a man, I hope that everything in life is wonderful, including those above and more.

Unfortunately, this can be counterproductive. I have never touched myself once!

No job, no good grades, no money, no handsome faces, no girlfriends, only a few friends.

Gradually, I hate myself. I often ask myself, "Why don't you have anything?"

In the future: my classmates will have their family, I am still single...

That's too bad! so shame on you !! You are idiot !!!

That is very negative, right?

I should have my own plan so that it never happens!

Although I don't have much time, it is enough.

When you stay at home for a long time, no good things will happen.

Hold my last seishun and burn it!
