<center>The Rose</center>

<center>西城</center>

<center>Some say love it is a river</center>

<center>That drowns the tender reed.</center>

<center>Some say love it is a razor</center>

<center>That leaves your soul to bleed.</center>

<center>Some say love it is a hunger</center>

<center>An endless, aching need</center>

<center>I say love it is a flower,</center>

<center>And you it's only seed.</center>

<center>It's the heart afraid of breaking</center>

<center>That never learns to dance</center>

<center>It's the dream afraid of waking</center>

<center>That never takes the chance</center>

<center>It's the one who won't be taken,</center>

<center>Who cannot seem to give</center>

<center>And the soul afraid of dying</center>

<center>That never learns to live.</center>

<center>When the night has been too lonely</center>

<center>And the road has been too long.</center>

<center>And you think that love is only</center>

<center>For the lucky and the strong.</center>

<center>Just remember in the winter</center>

<center>Far beneath the bitter snow</center>

<center>Lies the seed that with the sun's love,</center>

<center>In the spring, becomes the rose.</center>
